POLICY SUMMARY

Overview
Prostate rectal spacers are various materials or devices placed between the prostate and anterior wall of the rectum for use in men receiving radiation therapy for prostate cancer. The anterior wall of the rectum is considered a major dose-limiting factor in radiation therapy of prostate cancer. Physical separation is proposed to allow reduced toxicity and treatment intensification.

The SpaceOAR(R) System is made up of materials that break down naturally by the action of biological agents and is placed inside the patient through a needle. The system retains its position throughout the duration of the patient's radiotherapy treatments and, because the system is biodegradable, is absorbed by the patient's body over time.

Guidelines

   d. Modern localization techniques insufficient to improve oncologic cure rates and/or reduce side effects due to at least one of the following:
      i. Anatomic geometry precluding ideal rectal constraints (V70 <10%, V65 <20%, V40 <40%)
      Medication usage (e.g., anticoagulants)
      ii. Comorbid conditions (e.g., increased age, Hx MI or CHF)

2. No Exclusion criteria including all of the following:
