Effective Date	2/1/2022; Oxford only: 2/1/2022

1. Background:

Acthar Gel® (repository corticotropin injection) is an adrenocorticotrophic hormone (ACTH) analogue medically necessary for:

- Infantile Spasms: As monotherapy for the treatment of infantile spasms in infants and children under 2 years of age.¹
- Opsoclonus-myoclonus syndrome (i.e., OMS, Kinsbourne Syndrome)^{2,3}

The Acthar Gel package insert has listed other conditions in which it may be used. Since Acthar Gel is more costly than an alternative drug that is at least as likely to produce equivalent therapeutic results, UHCP has determined that use of Acthar Gel is not medically necessary for treatment of the following disorders and diseases: multiple sclerosis; rheumatic; collagen; dermatologic; allergic states; ophthalmic; respiratory; and edematous state.

Coverage will be provided for members who meet the following criteria.

2. Coverage Criteria^a:

A. Infantile Spasms (i.e., West Syndrome)
