CAHPS Survey
Use this guide to help positively affect every patient’s health care experience.

Each year, the Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems (CAHPS®) survey gathers feedback from consumers to better understand their overall health care experience. The survey results are then used by health plans and care providers to find ways to better serve patients and help them live a healthier life.

Read on to learn details about the CAHPS survey and useful ideas to help you and your staff make the most out of every patient’s office visit.

How does CAHPS work?
From February through June, CAHPS surveys are sent to a random sample of consumers and health plan members. The survey is managed by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Agency of Healthcare Research and Quality, and administered by vendors certified by the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) and the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Consumer participation in the survey is voluntary.

What is the value of the CAHPS survey?
UnitedHealthcare reviews the survey results closely every year. The information we learn is applied to our work with care providers and other health care partners. Together, our goal is to help drive quality improvements while enhancing the patient experience.

Do you have examples of the survey questions?

How can I help improve a patient’s experience?

We appreciate your enthusiasm to continually evaluate the steps your office takes to help patients feel welcome and understood. The following are some ideas to try, if you aren’t already doing them.

1. Make a personal connection.
   Everyone in your office has an important role to play in creating a great health care experience for your patients. A smile at the front desk or a quick “How are you doing?” can make a big difference.

2. Fight the flu.
   Ask patients if they’ve gotten their flu vaccine. If they haven’t, explain the benefits and work on a plan to help them get it.

3. Make it easy.
   To help your patients get the care they need, consider extending office hours and providing multiple services during a single visit. Verify their contact information and submit prior authorizations when they’re in the office, if possible.

4. Pick the right care provider.
   Help patients get care more quickly by connecting them with the right care provider for their needs at that time, whether it’s a doctor, nurse or a physician’s assistant.

5. Watch the wait times.
   Shorten wait times by limiting the number of same-time appointments. Approach a waiting patient every 10 minutes or so to let them know they haven’t been forgotten.

6. Be a good host.
   When a patient arrives, make sure you greet them. If there’s a long wait, apologize and explain the reason for the delay. Provide options that may include rescheduling. Remember the customer service you appreciate – treat each patient the way you’d like a loved one to be treated.

7. Get the complete picture.
   Ask your patients to sign an authorization form so you can get their medical records from other clinics or care providers. Remind them to bring in health care paperwork from other specialists, as well as all medications and over-the-counter drugs.

8. Explain recommended tests and pass along results promptly.
   Thoroughly explain any recommended tests your patient needs. Let them know when and how you’ll share their results. When you discuss results, be sure to flag any follow-up care that’s needed. If there are any delays in getting the results, proactively let your patient know.

9. Go the extra mile.
   Whatever your role, make an extra effort to help every patient get the care and support they need. A patient’s experience can be improved when you greet them warmly, listen to their questions, provide clear answers and help them with next steps. It can be that simple.
